U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission – Recall

Release Date: November 5, 2026
Release Number: 27 FINAL

Vanderhall North America Recalls All Model Year 2024-2026 Brawley Electric Recreational Off-road Vehicles Due to Injury and Crash Hazards

Recall Summary

Name of Product: Model Year 2024-2026 Brawley GTS Electric Recreational Off-road Vehicles (ROVs)

Hazard: The seat belts in Brawley ROVs can permanently lockup in the fully retracted position. If this occurs, consumers would be unable to reset the seat belt and put it on when the vehicle is operating, posing injury and crash hazards to consumers.

Remedy: Repair

Consumers should stop using the recalled vehicles immediately and contact an authorized Vanderhall dealer to schedule a free repair. A technician will install an insert into the seat belt guide slot on each seat that will reduce the speed the seat belt retracts, preventing the lockup from occurring.

Consumer Contact: Vanderhall North America, LLC by email at inquiry@vanderhallusa.com or online at https://dealer.vanderhallusa.com/contact, https://portal.vanderhallusa.com/safety_notices, under the name of "Vanderhall North America, LLC Recalls Brawley GTS Seat Belt Retractor" for more information.
